

Benefits and Coverages

I am going for pilot training. Does my overseas health insurance cover medical expenses to treat the injuries sustained during the training period?

No, your overseas health insurance policy does not cover the medical treatment for injuries sustained during training. You will have to get it covered specifically by paying extra premium.

Unique solution ID: #1086

Author:

Last update: 1970-01-01 01:00