

General

My travel medical policy has expired and I forgot to extend same. Can I get it extended now?

Insurance companies generally provide three days grace period to get your travel medical insurance policy extended provided there is no claim in the expired policy. However it is at the sole discretion of the company and as per terms and conditions of individual companies.

Unique solution ID: #1137

Author:

Last update: 1970-01-01 01:00